

ABSTRACT

A barbecue grill comprises a gridiron disk, a shaft extending from the gridiron disk so that the shaft becomes substantially perpendicular to the gridiron disk, 5 a bowl having a channel where the shaft is detachably received through the channel, and a motor attached to the bowl to generate rotation of the shaft.